

Practice the following situations in pairs

Situation 1: Taking a Message

Context: You work at a small company. Your coworker is not at their desk, and someone calls asking for them.

Student A (Caller)

You want to speak to Mr. Brown about a project deadline. If he's not available, leave a message with your name (Daniel Smith), phone number (555-9876), and ask him to call back this afternoon.

Student B (Receiver)

You answer the phone. Mr. Brown is not in. Offer to take a message.

Target Phrases:

- "I'm afraid he's not available at the moment."
- "Can I take a message?"
- "Would you like him to call you back?"

Situation 2: Wrong Number

Context: You receive a call for someone who doesn't work or live there.

Student A (Caller)

Call and ask for Susan Miller. You think it's her number.

Student B (Receiver)

Politely inform the caller that they have the wrong number.

Target Phrases:

- "I think you have the wrong number."
- "There's no one here by that name."
- "No problem. Goodbye."

Situation 3: Making an Appointment

Context: You want to make an appointment to see a dentist.

Student A (Caller)

Call the dental clinic and ask for an appointment next week, in the afternoon. Give your name and ask for a confirmation email.

Student B (Receptionist)

Answer the call. Offer options: Monday at 3pm or Wednesday at 4:30pm. Ask for the caller's name and email address.

Target Phrases:

- "I'd like to make an appointment."
- "What days are available?"
- "Could you confirm by email?"

Situation 4: Connecting Someone

Context: You work at a company. A client calls and wants to speak with someone in the Sales department.

Student A (Caller)

Call the company and ask to speak to someone in the Sales Department. Say your name is Jennifer Lee.

Student B (Receptionist)

Answer the call. Say you'll connect the call. If the person is unavailable, offer to transfer to voicemail.

Target Phrases:

- "One moment, I'll put you through."
- "I'll connect you now."
- "He's not at his desk. Would you like to leave a voicemail?"
